The Black Nile is a chronicle of Dan Morrison's journey down the Nile. Different people will have different expectations from the book based on that description. The experience I got from reading Morrison's book was not quite what I was expecting. I certainly expected the river itself to be more of a presence.

During flood (June–September) the river provides less than 30 percent of the main Nile flow at Khartoum because the force of the floodwaters of the Blue Nile holds back the White Nile, turning it into a lake. At low water (April–May) the White Nile's flow is uninhibited, and its contribution is more than 80 percent of total volume. The river is navigable all year by river steamer.
