The Bible, Genesis and Geology
To understand the first chapter of Genesis it is important that we distinguish the 'earth' mentioned in verse 1 from the 'earth' spoken in verse 2. For the condition of the earth in verse 2 is not what God had created originally, I Cor 14: 33. And hence in the beginning He created perfectly. So the waste and void of the earth spoken in verse 2 was got the original condition of the earth as God ...

Ore-genesis theories generally involve three components: source, transport or conduit, and trap. (This also applies to the petroleum industry: petroleum geologists originated this analysis.) Source is required because metal must come from somewhere, and be liberated by some process. Transport is required first to move the metal-bearing fluids or solid minerals into their current position, and ...
